Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Monday 04 Oct 2021

UK Outlook for Saturday 9 Oct 2021 to Monday 18 Oct 2021:
A band of cloud and increasingly patchy rain will push southeast through the weekend. Ahead of this, areas of mist and fog will likely be slow to clear, whilst clearer weather follows into parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland. Dry conditions are likely to then dominate for much of the UK for the rest of the period, with only occasional spells of rain likely in the north and west at times. Fog will continue to be a feature of the weather with light winds. Temperatures are likely to remain somewhat above normal for the time of year, but with chilly nights at times too. A change to more unsettled conditions may get underway by the end of the period.
